“ Working in the tasting room at Bar Harbor Cellars the summer after I graduated college was an exciting, dynamic, and challenging way to experience viticulture and small-scale farm-to-face wine production. Spending the summer in a renovated civil war era barn leading tastings helped me develop confidence, direct customer service experience, and some really cool wine skills. If you’ve ever seen the documentary Somm and wished you could swirl wine like that, this is the job for you. The winery is located on beautiful farmland full of vernal pools, horse pastures, and a feisty goat named Marceline. Getting to live right outside of Acadia National Park means ample opportunities to hike/bike/swim/paddle on your time off and Bar Harbor has some of the best ice cream. This job gave me the experience of talking to people from all over the world regarding grapes from Europe and California and local fruits all right in Bar Harbor, it always felt like a melting pot of knowledge (and fruit, and yeast..) Working in the tasting room prepared me for a career in the beverage industry and bestowed me with an arsenal of fancy wine words to utilize at dinner parties.”
